UNITED STATES AIR FORCE

MASTER SERGEANT LANCE A. GUYSICK

MSgt Lance Guysick is the First Sergeant, 85th Engineering Installation Squadron, Keesler AFB, MS. He serves as the trusted advisor to the commander on current and future matters concerning the morale, welfare, discipline, readiness, and the effective utilization of total force Airmen and contract personnel. The squadron provides specialized engineering services for telecommunications networks and radio frequency requirements as well as the installation, removal, and modification of command, control, communications, computer systems, cyber, airfield equipment, and RADAR systems worldwide during wartime and peacetime operations for the United States Air Force, Combatant Commands, and other Department of Defense agencies.

Master Sergeant Guysick entered the Air Force in August of 2010 as a Weather Journeyman. His background includes various leadership duties throughout the Weather career field to include Operational Weather Squadrons, Climatology support, and Army Weather Support. He has been deployed in direct support of Operation Inherent Resolve, as an Air Advisor to the Iraqi Military. In May of 2024, he was selected to become a First Sergeant. Prior to his current position, the master sergeant was the Section Chief of Readiness and Training, 3 Combat Weather Squadron, Detachment 3, Fort Bliss, Texas.
